

Project Management Assessment

The need to respond quickly to market changes, together with reduced budgets, requires an effective and solid project management way of working among all teams.

1 Challenges

As part of a continuous improvement approach, our client wanted to assess the state of the art of project management practices in order to achieve higher level of maturity in organizational performance and becoming an effective, predictable, fast and effective organization, continuously adapting to priorities, circumstances and changes in the business.

2 Framework

To meet the objectives and challenges presented, Winning focused on two essential activities:

- Project Management Assessment: Assessed the ongoing projects, organizational processes and project management methodology, as well as the project managers' skills;

- Implementation plan: Developed an action plan that treated the causes of the main problems, guiding the company towards organizational excellence and increasing the knowledge in project management.

3 Impact

- Better understanding: A deep assessment of current practices, methodologies and company's capabilities/competencies;
- Red flags detection: An overview of the critical areas and processes that should be improved;
- A path to improve: A set of actions to overcome each of the pain points of the critical areas to improve.

Cost overrun

■ Small projects ■ Medium projects ■ Large projects

Project management processes maturity

Benefits

- Increased maturity of project management processes and tools
- Greater predictability of projects results
- Greater compliance with deadlines and budget
- Better capacity management regarding, dependencies, priorities and resources.

We Inspire Action Through Science.

For further details, feel free to reach out to us. Simply click below to get in touch.

frederico.batista@winning.pt

winning